

JUSTINA ILOCHI

I am the CEO of GCA International, Ltd an education solutions company involved with working with schools in the UK and Africa. I am also a school's progress adviser/education consultant for the London Borough of Bexley and the Tri-Borough of Kensington and Chelsea, Hammersmith and Fulham, Westminster. I am also a senior team leader with Genistar—a financial education company. I am a member of the St. Vincent de Paul Society a charity in the Catholic Church.

I have vast experience of the UK educational system. I have led and taught in a range of school settings in the UK including secondary and special schools. My special areas are mathematics and special education needs.

As a trained inspector, inspecting on behalf of Ofsted from 2008 to 2015, I inspected all phases including PRUs and led special and primary school inspections. Currently I work in the UK education system through GCA International offering special packages to schools and working as an independent education consultant.

I have a QTS (2001) and an MA in Special Education Needs (2005). In 2014, I completed an MPhil in Education and my research was on Intersectionality with a focus on SEN and EAL. I am also an accredited lead international inspector of schools.
